

According to the definition of the indicator “Participants gaining a qualification upon leaving”, the qualification must be determined by "a competent body". What does this mean? Should educational institutions meet certain requirements?

There are no specific requirements in relation to the “competent body”. The competent body could be the institution delivering the qualification or the national body entrusted with the formal examination.

View PDF