ESF Monitoring -Youth Employment Initiative (YEI) - Are the follow-up indicators for YG the same as the longer-term result indicators for the YEI?

No. The YEI longer-term result indicators are to be recorded 6 months after having left the YEI operation, and they capture only positive results. By contrast, the YG “follow-up” indicators cover both positive and negative outcomes (i.e. participants who are still unemployed and inactive have to be reported as well as those in employment or education/training). In addition, YG follow-up indicators are to be collected 6, 12 and 18 months after the exit.
